

Crokinole Party.

Mrs. Hebe McDaniel entertained a party of young people on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. S. W. Armentraut on Capitol Hill, complimentary to Misses Louise and Eva Miller, of Miami, who are guests at present of the hostess. Carroms and crokinole were the games for the evening and the party was a most enjoyable one. A bowl of punch was presided over by Misses Edna Eckle, of Ft. Worth, Texas and Lottie Armentraut, two sweet, pretty girls, who were untiring in their attentions to the guests. And the punch bowl was quite an attraction throughout the entire evening.

Mrs. McDaniel was assisted by Mrs. S. W. Armentraut in her duties as hostess and the evening passed delightfully and rapidly away. Those present were Misses Jennie Threadgill, of Oklahoma; Gerlie Brown, Renaud Louise Miller, Nancy Hawkins, Miss Campbell, of St. Louis, Misses Alice and Emily Cordell, Estelle Dawes, Minnie Jurden, Nadine Fisher and Don Robertson. Messrs. Chas. Fisher, Will Fisher, Wm. Walker Jr., Rufus Vance, Maurice Hawkins, O. E. Grecian, Ben Striker, Tom Lacy, M. F. Lyons, Pete Reynolds, Charles Gaines, Clayton Landlen, Tom Rainey, and H. E. Parsons.

Parlor Meeting With Mrs. O. W. Johnston

The parlor meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held on Tuesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. O. W. Johnston on Vest St., hours from 3 to 5.

The presence of Mrs. Clara B. Hoffman, state president of the W. C. T. U., added largely to the interest of the meeting and the interesting and timely talk made by Mrs. Hoffman, was a great pleasure to the society. An excellent program had been prepared which included recitations by Misses Katrina Putsch and Agnes Reese, also a paper by Mrs. Elias Redman and a selection by Miss Dora Mitchell; music on mandolin and guitar by little Miss Florence Johnston and Lela Hayes. A vocal solo by Miss Pattie Shobe, who spent the last year in Boston, was especially fine. Her voice is flexible, her execution easy and graceful and her intonation very pleasing to the ear.

A cooling bowl of fruit lemonade was served from a table in the hall by Miss Frankie Johnston and was greatly enjoyed.

Refreshments of brick cream and cake were served by the hostess at four o'clock.

The W. C. T. U. society are doing a grand and noble work in our city and they have a delightful time socially. The society adjourned to meet again in two weeks, the place to be announced later.

A Compliment to Nat and Bruce Lynd, of Kansas City.

A charming event of the past week, was the party given by Miss Ethel Cooper at her home on Highland on Thursday evening, in honor of Nat and Bruce Lynd, of Kansas City.

The Cooper home is one of the most pleasant places in our city to visit, and Miss Ethel, a graceful and cordial hostess, who was assisted upon this occasion by her mother and sister, Mrs. and Miss Cooper received the guests in the reception hall, while Miss Ethel and Messrs. Nat and Bruce Lynd received the guests in the parlor.

Little Miss Effie Cooper and brother Homer made themselves very useful as ushers, very gracefully escorting the guests down room to room.

The floral decorations were beautiful and in perfect harmony with the permanent furnishings. The reception hall was done in mistertums, white and pink roses in the parlors, red geraniums in the library, while the dining room was one mass of panicles.

Punch was served in the library by little Miss Effie Cooper and her brother Homer.

Refreshments were served at eleven o'clock by Mrs. Cooper and her daughter Miss Lotta, assisted by Messrs. John Booth and Tom Rainey, consisting of brick ice cream and a variety of cake.

The following persons were present: Misses Beulah Sharp, Emma Reynolds, Maud Mackey, Katherine Eubank, Okie Dyer, Virginia Woodbridge, Virginia Young, Mildred Parrish, Bessie and Claude Tucker, Dora Leonard, Mary Ehrenman, Ethel McClure, Fanny Kincaid, and Messrs. Leonard Van Dyke, Harry Striker, Arch Naylor, Abner Gore, Earl Marmaduke, St. George Cordell, Devere Jackson, Will Putsch, Jahleel Woodbridge, Clyde Galloway, Henry Bryant, Marvin Barnhill, Robert Dunn, Karl Mayer and Dr. Ragsdale.

Mrs. Rebecca Deal.

Mrs. Rebecca Deal, wife of the late Major Geo. W. Deal, aged 84 years, and 3 months, died on Friday, Aug. 11 1899, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clay Lemon. Mrs. Deal was a very delicate woman, having broken her hip some 14 years ago, which made it impossible for her to ever walk without her crutch afterward, and she had never been out of the house in 9 years. She spent her time reading her bible, having worn out three in ten years. She was truly a christian woman, had been a member of the Presbyterian church since 13 years of age and her devotion to her church was beautiful to see. No one knew her but to love her, and while she could take no active part in church work, owing to her feeble health, yet the example of her consecrated life, so patient and always so cheerful, was a power for good.

The funeral was at the house conducted by Rev. W. R. Dobyns and the remains were buried at Pisgah cemetery beside her husband, who was laid there 14 years ago. Sweetly she sleeps near the old church so dear to her heart, where she attended service as long as her health would permit.

Nine children mourn for this devoted mother; they are, Mrs. Al Halley of Elmwood; Mrs. Dr. Halley of Sweet Springs; John N. Deal of McKinney, Tex.; Mrs. James of Texas; Mrs. Shendroll of Cass Co.; Mrs. G. M. Coyner and J. H. Deal, Mt. Leonard; G. M. Deal Fairville and Mrs. Clay Lemons of this city.

Scurlock-Goltra.

A pretty home wedding Wednesday evening at the beautiful suburban residence of the bride's father united for life Miss Mabel Elliott Goltra and Charles Scurlock, both of this city. It was a "palm wedding" and the decorations of the north parlor were palms and maiden hair ferns with a pretty canopy of the latter in the northwest corner. At 8:30 o'clock as Miss Jessie Goltra at the piano played "The Palm," the bridal party entered the north parlor and stood beneath the canopy while Rev. I. W. Read said the beautiful ring ceremony. Miss Blanche Goltra and George Scurlock, sister of the bride and brother of the groom respectively, were the attendants. The bride was gowned in white Parisian mull and carried bride's roses and the bridesmaid wore a costume of the same and carried American Beauty roses.

Only relatives and a few immediate friends were present, as it was the wish that the wedding be a simple one. After the ceremony suitable refreshments were served and later the bride and groom were accompanied to their future home, 130 West Morton avenue, which was given them, perfectly furnished, as a gift from the bride's father.

The bride is a member of one of the best known families of Jacksonville, being the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Goltra, of this city, and is a young woman whose charms of person and character have made her admired by many friends. It is a source of much pleasure to those to know that Jacksonville is still to be her home.

The groom has been for a number of years a resident of this city and has the confidence and respect of all who know him. He now holds a responsible position in the office of the Central Hospital for the Insane.

A number of choice and beautiful gifts of china, cut glass, silver, etc. bespoke the good wishes of friends and relatives. From out of the city there were present Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Beatty, of Marshall, Mo., and Mrs. S. H. Smalley, of Decatur.

The fair bride is a niece of Mrs. W. A. Beatty and is very popular in the social circles of Marshall, who in her frequent visits to her aunt has greatly endeared herself to Marshall people, who extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Scurlock with the wish that the life begun under such a sunny sky may be one long summer day.

A Pleasant Outing.

A congenial party of young people, chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Wallace spent Friday afternoon at Wilton, where a tempting luncheon that has never been excelled either in quality or quantity was an important feature of the evening. The party were as follows: Misses Fannie Wood, Pattie Page, Giddings, Zott, Agnes Langan and Miss Mattie Ringo; Messrs. Charles Gaines, W. M. Walker, Jr., Theodore Meyer, Will Rea, Dr. Ming and Rufus Vance.

Mrs. June King entertained the following friends at dinner at her lovely country home recently and it was a most delightful day: Mr. and Mrs. Matt Piper, John Adams and wife, Jim Piper and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Walker, of Malta Bend.
